

Yongdoo Choi, PhD

Principle Investigator, Molecular Imaging & Therapy Branch, National Cancer Center,
Republic of Korea

E-mail: ydchoi@ncc.re.kr

My research area is focused on the development of new molecular imaging agents, activatable photosensitizing agents, and smart nanomedicine. Especially, I am trying to develop nanoagents which can detect cancer sites by MRI, SPECT/CT, or nearinfrared fluorescence imaging, and then treat the detected tumors by photodynamic/photothermal therapy.